It is difficult to understand why any naturalized citizen should ever return to the country of his nativity without bearing with him the official proofs of his American citizenship. One-half the cases of invasion of the rights of our naturalized citizens abroad is due to neglect to procure documentary evidence of citizenship that, indeed, every one traveling in a foreign country should carry with him.

Here, now, is the case of young Biesel, that would not have occurred had the family taken ordinary precautions. Biesel and wife came to America about eight years ago and located in Texas. In due time the father took out his papers of naturalization. His son was but a mere lad, and the act of his father therefore accrued to his benefit, and he, too, became an American citizen. When the lad was 18, the family took a trip to Germany, the native land of the head of the house, and took his boy with him. Just as they were about to return, the authorities at Bremen seized the boy, and informed the father that the youth must enter the army and serve his time. The passport of the father protected him, but there was none for young Biesel, and no evidence that he was an American citizen, when it would have been a matter of ease for the father to have procured the necessary official papers before he left this country. There was no help for it; the German officials laughed at the statements of the boy's father, and were deaf to the appeals of his mother.

He was dragged ashore and put to service in the army, while his father and mother sailed for this country. As soon as they arrived here they applied to the Secretary of State, and a correspondence of a diplomatic character has been opened up on the subject. The German authorities replying that if the facts are as they are represented, the boy shall be released and sent to his home promptly. When Germans residing in this country, and who have become American citizens, are so well aware of the severity of the German laws relating to the service of their fathers, it is surprising, and more, that any of them ever return to the old country without carrying with them the evidences that they and their sons are entitled to the protection of the American flag.

Upon the death of Leonard Swett, a distinguished citizen of the West, a statement was made by some of the press that Mr. Swett made the speech of nomination for Mr. Lincoln in the Convention of 1860.

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat promptly corrects the error and declares that even the American is wrong. It is surprising, it

As the day draws near when Kemmler is to be executed in New York by the use of the alternating electrical current, the interest in the experiment increases. The electrical construction and light companies are very bitterly opposed to the use of electricity in executions, fearing that it will tend to render electrical apparatus unpopular in commercial and domestic circles. These companies are therefore very actively engaged in endeavoring to show that death is not an inevitable result from assault by an alternating current. They contend that a shock sufficient to make death a certainty, is revolting in its results, because distorting, and must cause intense pain. They have enlisted all the men of science who are willing to take a fee and their view of the matter, and it is likely therefore that in the next Legislature of New York we shall have the fight all over again on the question of executions by hanging or by electricity. One witness for the electric light people, and whom they keep under constant surveillance, that he may not escape them, is W. J. Bell, a telegraph lineman.

While climbing a telegraph pole to repair a broken line last year, he carried in his hand the severed telegraph wire, which reached to the pavement. As he ascended he accidentally came into contact with an electric light wire; the current was "on," and as the wire Bell bore in his hand connected him with the ground, the current on the electric light line took the shortest direction and passed through Bell's body, on its way to the earth. It was of the same strength and character as that adopted in New York. Bell sustained the shock for twenty seconds, when he fell to the ground. The wire he held in his hand burned the flesh to the bone, and he was rendered insensible for a time. Then he arose and ran several blocks and fell again into insensibility. For months he was partially paralyzed and suffered from nervous disorders in variety. He is still an invalid, and is likely to remain one for life. One important fact is that while he suffered the shock he experienced no pain at all, only a sense of fulness and an icy chill for an instant. But while it is true that the shock did not kill Bell, it is also true that in the same season two men were killed under dissimilar circumstances and by lesser shocks of an alternating current. If Bell's case proves anything, therefore, it proves only uncertainty as to death following such a shock as he received under similar circumstances. But the shock that is intended to kill Kemmler will be continued much longer than twenty seconds. It will not be a passage of the current through his body and to the ground, but through his brain and the chief of the nerve centers and back to the dynamo. The prisoner will sit in an insulated chair, and the ex-posure to the current will be the very best and most effective known to electrical science, whereas in the case of Bell the connection was not perfect, and it is doubtful if the whole current went through him.

Experiments have been made by the New York authorities upon animals possessing greater vitality than man, and they have been instantly and painlessly killed by the alternating current in every instance when of less force than that to be used in the case of Kemmler. The fears of the electrical companies are groundless.

People will no more refuse to use electricity because under certain conditions it kills than they refuse to use rope because it is the instrument of death in hanging. If the new method renders them more cautious in the use of the currents, then electrical application in executions will have a good effect. If, however, electricity fails as a certain and reliable means of execution, then some other must be devised as a substitute for hanging, which is in every way objectionable, a relic of ignorance, and itself by no means certain, while it is often made horrible by mismanagement and the suffering that results to the victim.

A SMART Englishman—we have not a doubt of his smartness—has written a long letter to an English journal in which he shows, to his own satisfaction at least, that in case of a war with the United States the mother country will be able to turn her child over her ancient knee and Red Hot Speech of the President of

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE RECORD-UNION.]

LOYAL WORDS.

No Room in America for Such Societies as the Clan-na-Gael.

WASHINGTON, June 18th.—The National

Encampment of the Patriotic Sons of America convened this morning with two hundred delegates present from Maine,

Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York,

New Jersey, Delaware, Pennsylvania, Ohio,

Illinois, Michigan, Kansas, Colorado,

Colorado and Arizona, the President, George F. Smith of Chicago, in the chair.

The address of welcome was given by Commissioner Douglas of the District of Columbia, and the response by President Smith.

A second session was then gone into for the election of officers and the transaction of business. Beside the delegates over one thousand uniformed members have already arrived for the grand parade.

President Smith's annual address dwelt upon the necessity of committing to Americans the care and preservation of American principles and institutions. The control of the public schools should be a matter of deepest concern. The naturalization laws he denounced as a delusion, snare and a fraud. By the means of them in seventeen States and four Territories he asserted it is possible to overthrow the Congressional Act against alien land holders in this country. The following sentiments upon subjects now forming in the public mind were loudly applauded.

"A few more Haymarket riots and Cronin murders directed by organized bodies of foreigners who have been permitted to become citizens of this free America, and who have shown their loyalty by sending by messenger loaded with dynamite back to their native country for the purpose of destroying innocent people, and who have fought and killed their members when they failed to carry out their belated plans, and who will be our enemies in our country, and who will be the cause of lamp posts and telegraph poles enough to hang the miscreants, I ask you, is there any room in this country for societies like the Clan-na-Gael, that are not only harmonious, but are also a menace to American institutions, and are dangerous to American order, disloyal to the American Government, destructive to American principles, repugnant to American ideas, and disgraceful to all Americans who are loyal to the principles of justice, and any respect for humanity?"

"Or have we room for societies whose members contract with men to commit murder and then betray their tools that they themselves may have more money to spend for their own personal benefits? One-third of our entire population is of foreign birth or parentage. Aliens and foreign embassies are everywhere in our public buildings and embassies. Our streets are filled with people of foreign birth, and our government is a mockery in process of people. We are cursed with sues, and our government is a mockery or not, and therefore not admitted to entry. The department also adopts the Collector's suggestion that the oath given to the recent reports on the Board of Arbitration shall be amended to provide persons interested in any way in the rejection or admission of disputed merchandise.

eral Kelton this morning from General</

BEYOND THE ATLANTIC.

Havana is considerably damaged by a Deluge of Rain.

VREDA VANQUISHES VALKYRIE.

The French Are Lamenting the Sorry Condition of Their Navy—English Turf.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST SINGER.

Adelina Patti is Dangerously Ill at the French Capital.

PARIS, June 18th.—The Evening News says that Adelina Patti, the world-renowned prima donna, is lying dangerously ill at her hotel in the rue de la Marine. She has been singing at the Opera House for some time, and it is reported that she has not been altogether pleased with the success of the tenor, though her own reception was very warm, but there is no suspicion that her sickness has anything to do with artistic pride. On the contrary, her friends report that the sickness is a fever of a typhoid and very dangerous character, and that grave fears are entertained that she may not recover.

For twenty-seven years Adelina Patti has been the undisputed queen of the operatic world, and should she die or lose her voice there is no one now known who could replace her in the great operatic roles.

Valquyrie Vanquished.

QUEENSTOWN, June 18th.—In the yacht race today the Valkyrie led for twenty miles, when she was overhauled by the Yarna. The wind then died away, and both were becalmed. The Yarna was towed back to the harbor, and the Deerhound retired. The others, with the light wind which sprang up at midnight, continued on the course for the Queen's cup. At 2:45 A. M. the Yarna was about one mile and the Vreda two miles astern of the Valkyrie.

Later, 4:15 A. M.—The Valkyrie was beaten and the Vreda won the race.

LONDON, June 18th.—The Ascot stakes were won by Lord Rose, Ashplant second, Tassaphere third.

Donovan, the winner of the Derby, won the Prince of Wales stakes at Ascot today. The race for the Queen's was won by Rollish's Monarch, Carraghmore second, Claymore third.

Falmouth's Bada won the Triennial stakes.

Portland's Semolina won the Ascot Biennial stakes.

The French Navy.

PARIS, June 18th.—In Chamber of Deputies today Rocher moved the House to grant a credit of 915,000 francs to complete the ironclads now in course of construction. Krantz, the Minister of Marine, replied that the sum mentioned would not be sufficient for the work. He said a serious effort would be necessary to bring France's naval strength up to a proper standard. The Government, he said, would soon ask for a credit of 60,000,000 francs for naval improvements.

The Seamen's Strike.

LIVERPOOL, June 18th.—Ship owners in Liverpool unanimously refused to strike the advance wages offered by the striking seamen. The Transatlantic Ship Company whose vessels run between Liverpool and New York, announced that they would specially fitted out and moored in the Mersey with non-union seamen. During the time the steamers were in port they were provided with police protection.

Burke is Held.

WINSTON (Manitoba), June 18th.—Burke, the Crown suspect, who was arrested here, was arraigned today in the Police Court. The Chief of Police stated that he was holding Burke on the strength of telegrams from the Chicago authorities charging him with being a principal in the Cronin murder. The police magistrate accordingly remanded him until Saturday.

Charles Stuart Farnell.

LONDON, June 18th.—The Farnell Commission resumed today.

Farnell's appeal against the postponement of the libel suit against the Times was dismissed with costs. The Appeal Court decided the delay had not damaged Farnell's character, the Times having admitted the libel and paid money into Court.

Russian Import Duties.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 18th.—Modifications have been made in the Russian import duties. The duty on raw cotton has been raised 25 per cent, on wax 25 per cent, on starch 7 per cent, on wax 25 per cent. The tariff on rice is lowered 20 per cent.

Heavy Rain at Havana.

HAVANA, June 18th.—The most severe rainstorms ever experienced on this coast occurred Sunday. The rain came down in such a volume that several of the streets quickly became roaring torrents. Walls were undermined and collapsed. No loss of life by the storm is reported.

Charles Stuart Farnell.

LONDON, June 18th.—The Times, referring to the Valkyrie's victory yesterday, says it was just what was needed by the strongest of the American fleet.

Nothing could be more satisfactory than the way she acquitted herself.

Result of the Running Races at the Coney Island Track.

New York, June 18th.—Suburban day-draw an immense crowd to the Coney Island track this afternoon. The grand stands were packed, while the crowd in the betting ring almost overpowered the bookmakers, whose tables were thronged with doing business. The ladies were out in force, the bright colors of their attire adding to the brilliancy of the scene, while the cheering of the throngs of spectators was a full of vehicles of all descriptions. The day was pleasant, the extremely warm weather of the opening day being dispelled by a breeze from the ocean, while the track was in as fine condition as careful attendance could make it.
